DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

Re line 1: Replace “programming” with – programming device --.

Appropriate correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

2. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities:

Re line 1: Replace “transponders” with – transponders disposed on a web --.

Re line 8: Replace “and a predetermined first thickness” with – and having a predetermined first thickness --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsirline et al. (US 6,848,616).

Tsirline et al. teaches an RFID programming device with a transmission line and an opening adjacent thereto to accept a web of RFID transponders inserted into the opening such that the RF field is constrained to only program one tag (abstract and FIG. 1). Though silent to a strip/microstrip transmission line, the transceiver 42 and coupler 1 is interpreted as a strip/microstrip transmission line, as is conventional in the art, for communicating signals to the tag for selective coupling/communication. One would have been motivated to do this for selective coupling/communication. Though silent to the RF field being constrained by the housing and transmission line, Tsirline et al. teaches selective coupling (abstract) and the use of shielding and a specific configuration of the transmission lines/coils. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that such configurations would effect/constrain the programming the RFID tags on the web, and that adjustments to such parameters could effective the constraining.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-13 are allowed.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to teach the limitations of the independent claims, including that the programming device has a strip transmission line comprising a central conductor with a top and bottom surface with the claimed dielectric layers, ground plane, and housing, as set forth in claim 1.

6. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure (See PTO-892).
